Palatka Railroad Preservation Society is a non-profit organization committed to the preservation of the rail heritage of Palatka and surrounding areas. Society activities include: education, historical preservation, and model railroading.

Educational opportunities include informing the public of the historical impact of the railroads of the area. This is done with Open House events, school groups and special tours. Preservation activities are restoring, cataloging, exhibiting and maintaining the artifacts, photos and documents entrusted to the society. Model railroading involves constructing, operating, and maintaining historical scale model train exhibits.

The society maintains and operates David Browning Railroad Museum in Palatka's historic train station. It also sponsors RailFest, an annual railroad festival each fall.
